"Daddy Long Legs" Well Presented by Arrowwood Jr. Local

Saturday night last residents of the Arrowwood district were treated to three hours of wholesome and educational entertainment by the local branch of the Jr. U.F.A. The feature event of the evening was the four act play, "Daddy Long Legs." With a cast of 20 characters the play was enacted in a very credible manner, and the performers are to be congratulated on their respective abilities. To enact such a play requires much time and effort on the part of both players and directors, but it is certain that all were greatly rewarded for the efforts put forth. It is the aim of the locals to present "Daddy Long Legs" at Milo this Thursday as part of the chautauqua sponsored there.

The numbers presented by the high school orchestra opening the program were received much enthusiasm.

Great was the applause accorded Norman and Jerry Jacques when they delighted the crowd with the vocal rendering of "When the works all done this fall."

The piano solos rendered by Mrs. Weins during the intermissions between acts were intensely enjoyed by the crowd.

Great credit is due to Mrs. McBride who coached the Jr.s in their rehearsals, and to Mrs. Leith, Mrs. Hales and Miss Spencer who assisted her. Following is the cast of characters

Mr. O. L. McPherson Gives Many Interesting Details re Our Present Government

Last Wednesday evening, Mr. O. L. McPherson of Vulcan, who has been a member for Little Bow for 13 years and Minister of Public Works for 8 years and just recently resigned, spoke to a fair sized audience of members and non-members of the Arrowwood U.F.A. in Phillips Hall.

The meeting was opened when Mr. R. R. McBride as chairman, introduced the speaker, Mr. O. L. McPherson of Vulcan.

In his speech Mr. McPherson gave many interesting details concerning our present administration, the financial situation and conditions and abuses criticisms of the "press" brought in to play against the present government. It is interesting to note that at present in spite of expenditures and aside from interest on Public Debt today is less than in 1921. Yet, many criticisms are offered. One which makes a good example is that concerning ministers' cars. Much fault is being found because the money spent for Government cars and for their upkeep but by comparison it is found that in 1921 the cost of one minister's car, being driven for one year was $3,563.00 (to include a chauffeur). At present the expenditures of all of the ministers added together total approximately what one's expenditures were in 1921. However, no criticisms were offered. Yet today, when costs have been very reduced, much more is being said.

"No fair-minded man should present criticism," said Mr. McPherson, "but some methods of criticism which are not legitimate have come into play." In trying to reveal the nature of the warfare which is going on in the province against the present government the speaker suggested that the best method is to stick to issues and facts, not to personal abuses as has been the case. Frankness, truthfulness and openness should be used. The press in Alberta has a disregard for truth and many fantastic concoctions are being published by some of the leading newspapers of the province.

Ramsay MacDonald was heard recently to make the remark that "News and views are so entangled that no reader can get the truth," said Mr. McPherson.

Before closing his speech, Mr. McPherson spoke of the U.F.A. and the influence that it has had on the province. The achievements that the organization has accomplished are ones to be proud of for it has done much for the province. Whatever hope we have to-day rests through the U.F.A., not through the Old Parties, was the statement of the speaker.

The organization is at its most critical point and our greatest hope is through this organization. It is an avenue for expression of that which we want.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. McBride asked for any criticisms or questions. The only question brought forth was one on the debt adjustment.

The hunting season is here. In Canada the wisest of early frontiersmen are the moose and the maple, like banners of crimson and gold against the dark friendly evergreens, proclaim that once again the red gods' hold high carnival. The woods are at their best—the moose is sleek and black, the buck deer has his horns bunched to his fancy, the coat of the black bear shines like silk and the hudson gabe of the grizzly is a study in dark and grey. The high-born sheep is rustles and alert, the mountain goat snow white and the caribou is the prime. The grouse and woodcock are plump and contented in the covert, while the ducks and geese are gathering in favourite feeding grounds in preparation for their long flight south. The game areas of Canada, scattered from ocean to ocean, are readily accessible from any part of the continent. It is not a country for the wealthy sportsman only, the hunter with moderate means may also be suited. Local residents can enjoy a trip at a very reasonable cost. Sportsmen from other lands are welcome and are only asked to show their appreciation of the privilege of access to our game fields by observing the hunting laws and observing the ethics of sportsmanship. A publication entitled "Canada's Game Fields" which should be of interest to sportsmen planning a hunting trip in Canada, may now be had upon application to the National Park and Game Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their 'Grip' on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're 'growing old'. They feel tired, listless, 'weak'. Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Both are in Canada.

The aeroplane dispatcher at Concord, New Hampshire, airport is a woman, Mrs. Alice L. Marston.

Four times daily a tri-motored passenger, mail or express aeroplane alights there, and whether it be 35 below zero, as it was once last winter, or 90 in the shade, as it was more than once this summer, passengers are greeted by a trim, diminutive lady who smilingly takes their tickets, assists them to alight and then tosses the mail bags on board or takes them off.

Will Take Referendum

To Test Great Britain's Traditional Policy Of Splendid Isolation

"Great Britain's will for or against her traditional policy of splendid isolation" shortly will be tested by a thorough referendum conducted by the League of Nations union.

Each citizen will be invited to answer five questions as follows: Should Great Britain remain a member of the League of Nations? Are you in favor of a general reduction of armaments by international agreement?

Are you in favor of general abolition of national air forces by international agreement? Ought the manufacture and sale of armaments for private profit to be banned by international agreement?

If one nation is resolved to attack another, do you believe that the other powers ought to force that nation to renounce its designs, either by non-military economic measures, or, if needs be, by military measures?

The Daily Express some time ago conducted a straw vote, the outcome of which supported the newspaper's stand favoring a British isolationist policy.

The present semi-official referendum is intended to prove the contrary. Its backers contend that the results of the other vote were inconclusive because the questions were put in a very elementary fashion.

King Alexander of Yugoslavia was one of the most shoo-out monarchs in Europe.

In 1916 he narrowly escaped death when a man threw a bomb at him. In 1920 he had a second narrow escape from a bomb at Sarajevo.

In 1921 another attempt was made on his life. This time one member of his entourage was killed and six wounded. The incident occurred at Belgrade.

In June, 1931, another bombing attempt was unsuccessful. A year later—in May, 1932—the King's palace was bombed.

DISCOVERY BRINGING QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN TO MILLIONS

Remember the pictures held when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin. Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes.

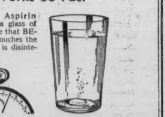

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. If be- gins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. Equally important, Aspirin is safe. For scientific tests show this: Aspirin does not burn the heart. Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 512 tablets at any druggist's.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BE-FORE it reaches the bottom, it is disinte-grating.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach. Aspirin starts "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY
Author of "The Coronado Trail",
"The Chayton Trail", Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene declined to see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward wilderness outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of it; or, he sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and proceeds to arrest them.

Joe Carr's daughter, Edith, repulses Dustin when he wished to make her acquaintance, saying when she walked with a man, it would not be with a square man. He plans revenge, but has had no opportunity so far. Affairs on the ranch going from bad to worse, Joe Carr takes to drink.

(Now Go On With The Story)

Somewhere the Broken Spur always found a market. Broken Spur cattle were shipped periodically to California to be fattened to bring the highest prices in a fall market, while the Hour-glass could not pay its freight bills for such shipments. Poor old Joe Carr saw the Hour-glass go to pieces under his once able hands and he sought in vain for the reason. That suit over Soda Springs was the last straw.

"I know damned well they've been robbing us dead, dumb and blind," he snapped to Joe Carr, his foreman. "What can't prove it. What can't you do? There's nothing I can do, Frank."

"Huh. You ought try leaving the cork in to which bottle for a change," said Carr, who was not inquisitively named Carr. Carr cursed him to pieces under his once able hands and he sought in vain for the reason. That suit over Soda Springs was the last straw.

"I wish to God I could get track of that young fellow Gerald Keene," said Carr fretfully. "You know how old Peter Vinton left the Hour-glass. Half to me and half to him, and in five or six days, the other gets the half of the one who dies. Funny way to leave a ranch. Nobody can know the reason. Nobody knows his address. I've been running into the red ink right along by borrowing cash to finance the Hour-glass for the last few years. I've been doing it on my own responsibility. It ain't right that he shouldn't pay his share."

"Listen here, Joe," said Carr. "Crews wheeled on his employer. I've known you for a lifetime as men count years. As a cattle-man nobody can teach you a thing about the business."

As a distiller you ain't much but as a steady consumer of bottled goods you ought to have a gold mine. No use blabbering facts that're right face up on the table. It's liquor that's helped put the ranch in the red."

Red liquor. It might have happened anyhow but I know it helped a bad matter to get worse. It's time somebody's telling you."

Carr began a futile protest but Crew cut him short.

"You'd never have got into that card game in the Silver Dollar but for red liquor. That game cost you ten thousand and you know it. You'd never have tried running a horse for the Coshville Sweepstakes if you hadn't been so full you couldn't hit the ground with your hat. Then you made a bet you'd win it, and when you sobered up you wouldn't even hedge. A cattleman's got no business running a horse except at the end of his rope. You know it when you're sober, too. That's what makes me so damned hot."

"I was tryin' to win back what I'd lost," said Carr.

"Hell, man! I know that. A fat chance you had of winnin'. Three straggers sittin' in the game an' you with the only roll in town with Spike Goddard sittin' in the game and a bar mirror behind you that you never saw saw till too late. Man, you were askin' for trouble."

"Well, I got it all right at that. Listen here, Frank. Is there any way I can locate this man Gerald Keene? Can't you think of some way?"

"Simon Burwell of the Drovers Bank in Culo handled the ranch's business didn't he? Better write to him. What's the trouble, Joe?"

"Money," said Carr hoarsely. "I need money, Frank, and that's a fact."

"Can't you borrow enough at the Bank back to tide you over? Old Pegram, the president there, ought to help you."

"Hell, man! It's old leechhouse Pegram I want to pay. They're yellin' over some back interest that I haven't been able to pay. I borrowed eleven thousand from Pegram on my personal note and I haven't been able to pay him the interest. It's about eleven hundred odd."

Crews whistled. Eleven thousand at ten per cent. (and Texas allows a ten per cent rate) meant that old Joe had borrowed about all he could on his share of the ranch at prevailing rates in the money market. No wonder Joe was worried. No wonder he drank a little. Crews suddenly made up his mind that never again would be criticised a man till he knew all of both sides of the question.

"That's bad," he said evenly. "But I mean how much is the total you owe?"

Joe Carr flung up a pair of tired hands that looked suddenly old and said, "I don't know."

"A damned sight more'n I've got or can raise," he said. "But if it damned Broken Spur kept their thieving hands off me I could yet come clear I think."

"Well, they won't," said Crews. "This suit over Soda Springs shows that they mean to drive you to the wall. That'll cost you ten thousand in court fees. If they lose they can't pay—or won't. I'll all come back on us. You... I wish you talk with Dustin over the matter."

"Over an ivory front sight," snarled Carr. "That's the only way I'll talk to him. See if you can't find out where I can get in touch with Gerald Keene. He owns half the ranch. He might help."

All attempts to find Gerald Keene had failed and at times old Joe doubted whether such a person really existed.

"I don't know what to make of it," growled Crews, tramping the floor. "The man has just dropped out of sight. Nobody knows where he is or even where he used to live."

"And to-day I was notified that old Pegram wants some definite action taken on my note," said Carr. "That means pay. How in hell can I?"

Crews whistled again.

"It looks like they've got you by the short hairs," he growled. "If they crowd you, what'll you do?"

"Good God, what'll I do?" demanded Carr miserably. He remembered old days when a mere verbal assurance that he would pay helped him out of the red ink.

"I'm too old to start all over again," he said wretchedly. "I can't do it, Frank. Too, there's Edith to be thought of."

There had always been Edith and old Joe Carr had never ceased to think of her though his thoughts were not always sober ones. Crews could not help reflecting sadly that a few hours of thought about Edith at the proper time would have prevented much of the present trouble.

But he only said: "There seems to be only the old

I Want...new aid in PREVENTING Colds

Remarkable New Formula is Especially Designed for Nose and Upper Throat where most colds start

AFTER years of research on the problem of colds, Vicks Chemicals have developed a remarkable new preparation—Vicks Vapo-nol. This exclusive Vicks formula is especially designed to aid the functions which Nature has provided in the nose to prevent colds, or to throw them off in their early stages. Used at the very first feeling of nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Vicks Vapo-nol helps to avoid many colds altogether.

Relieves Head Colds of Every Type

If irritation has reached the stuffy, sneezy stage—Nature's usual warning that a cold is developing—prompt use of Vicks Vapo-nol helps to throw it off in the early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Vicks Vapo-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings welcome relief.

Vicks Vapo-nol is real medication—not mere "oil drops"—yet is absolutely safe for children and adults. It has been clinically tested by physicians—approved by specialists.

Easy to use, anytime or place—at home or at work. Keep a bottle always handy.

Introduces Vicks Colds-Control Plan

This new aid in preventing colds is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub (modern external treatment for colds). Together with certain simple rules of health, these two preparations form the Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Records of thousands of clinical tests—made over a period of two years, and under medical supervision—indicate that Vicks Plan greatly reduced the number, duration and dangers of colds. (Full details of the Plan in each package.)

Brethren Church Notes

The Bible School will begin next Monday. Pupils should enroll on that day as much as possible. Recitations begin on Tuesday. In the study of the Bible the Bible is the only text book used. The object of the Bible School is to increase the knowledge of the Bible. The Bible is its own best interpreter. So, familiarity with the Bible itself is of first importance for the Christian and especially the Christian worker. Courses are also being given in methods of teaching.

Mrs. J. J. Crawford, of Irricana, will be in charge of the music department again. She is a graduate of Bethany Biblical Seminary music department. She studied for some time under Prof. Clippinger, of Chicago. Beside the classes in music she is prepared to give voice and piano instruction.

People of the community who do not have a program that prevents attendance at the classes should make profitable use of their time by choosing the classes best suited to their desires and avail themselves of this opportunity.

The school is conducted in the commodious church basement. You can attend school for about six cents a day. You cannot afford to miss it at that price.

Pleased With Canada

The magnificent scenery of Canada so enthralled Lord Macmillan chairman of the Royal Commission on banking, that he confessed, just prior to sailing for England on the Empress of Britain, that it dwarfed the scenery of Scotland, and that the only thing needed was for some author to blend it with the romantic history of Canada, as Sir Walter Scott had blended the scenery of Scotland with the romantic history of the land of the Bruce.

Where The High Country Calls

Adventure has found a splendid and thrilling outlet in the new order of the outdoors, the Sky Line Hikers of the Canadian Rockies. Organized at Banff and Lake Louise this season, the new order provided such happy, healthful opportunities for hiking over the high passes, Alpine Meadows, and mountain trails of the National Parks of Canada, that devotees of the outdoors throughout Canada and the United States are now singing its praises. The inaugural hike this year took a large party of enthusiasts, under the expert direction of Swan Golden Breast Pass and Rudolf Assenauer, through Paradise Valley, over the high trail past Lake Agassiz, and over Sentinel Pass to Moraine Lake. The second day's journey took the hikers across the magnificent West Elk Mountains, and through the flower-scented West Elk Mountains, and finally over the snow-bound pass of that name to Eagle's Eye on Tokum Creek. The third day saw the conquest of Ogish Pass, some tricky work on the glaciers and finally the Lake O'Hara-Banff-Carmen. Hikes in the O'Hara country and the Pow Wow occupied the fourth day, and the eighth-mile hike to Wapiti ended this truly historic expedition. Norman B. Batson of Banff, is the President of the new order, which is now in full swing with steadily increasing membership. A four-day hike in the Yoho Valley will be one of the major activities next summer.

The picture lay-out well illustrates the happy moments on the trail. Carl Klingens, internationally famous artist, is seen extolling the virtues of the Alpspeak to Miss Georgia Eichelard, celebrated mountain climber and New York socialite. A group of the hikers triumphant on Sentinel Pass enjoying the splendid view down in the mountain valleys below. The first annual Pow-Wow and the Sun-dance Lodge.
